Who We Are

Appalachian Mountain Club

The AMC is proud to be the nation's oldest outdoor recreation and conservation organization. Since 1876, the Appalachian Mountain Club has been promoting the protection, enjoyment and wise use of the mountains, rivers and trails of the Northeast outdoors. The Narragansett Chapter is the Rhode Island affiliate of the Appalachian Mountain Club.

Recreation

Get out, get active and have fun! Enjoy the outdoors with hiking, biking, climbing, canoeing, kayaking, skiing and snowshoeing.

Conservation

The AMC works to protect the Northeast's land, air, rivers and trails through science, grassroots activism and hands-on stewardship.

Education

We offer many trips each year, from local chapter trips, to regional, to longer excursions, for every ability level.

How to Join the AMC

Simply visit our Website at www.amcnarragansett.org

The AMC has nearly 90,000 members in 12 chapters, 20,000 volunteers and over 450 full time and seasonal staff. The 12 chapters reach from Maine to Washington D.C. Our Chapter was formed in 1921 and has about 2,600 members.
